

After the General Election tell the new government...

END AUSTERITY NOW

NATIONAL DEMONSTRATION

Saturday 20 June 2015

Assemble 12pm

Bank of England (Queen Victoria St) City of London

Nearest tube: Bank

Organised by The People's Assembly

Every major party remains committed to austerity so the Peoples Assembly Against Austerity is calling a major national demonstration just weeks after the election to send a clear message to the new government. That message is simple; we demand an alternative to austerity and to policies that only benefit those at the top.

We'll be assembling the demonstration in the heart of the City of London right on the doorstep of the people who created the crisis, to demand that they should pay for the crisis and not the majority who had nothing to do with it.

Transport will be arranged from across the country.

More details available soon. Check the website for updates on transport, route and speakers.
